

17th Annual Substance Abuse Conference

PARTNERS FOR RECOVERY AND PREVENTION: CREATING HEALTHY FAMILIES AND COMMUNITIES

January 27-28, 2005 (Pre-Conference Institute January 25-26)

Southern Hills Marriott Hotel

Tulsa, Oklahoma

You are invited to the 17th Annual Substance Abuse Conference to be held January 26-28, 2005. This year's theme is Partners for Recovery and Prevention: Creating Healthy Families and Communities. The 2005 conference is sponsored by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), the Oklahoma Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services (ODMHSAS), and several other agencies. It brings together local, state and national leaders to discuss "best practice," research-based programs in substance abuse treatment and prevention.

Conference presenters will offer practical experience to help attendees increase their understanding and skills related to the SAMHSA Program Priorities and Cross-cutting Principles. These programs and priorities are "built on the principle that people of all ages, with or at risk for mental or substance use disorders should have the opportunity for a fulfilling life that includes a job, a home, and meaningful relationships with family and friends."

Who should attend? The 17th Annual Substance Abuse Conference will appeal to anyone interested in promoting healthy behaviors. It will be of particular value to professional educators; service providers in the areas of mental health, substance abuse prevention, intervention, treatment, and aftercare; social workers; public health workers; counselors; therapists; community task force members; regional advisory board members; clergy; tribal administrators and councils; human services providers; child abuse preventionists; medical professionals; psychologists; caregivers; parents; law enforcement and criminal justice representatives; child development specialists; and city, county and state government officials.

FEATURED SPEAKERS

Christie A. Cline, M.D., MBA, P.C., currently serves as President of ZiaLogic, a professional corporation that provides strategic planning consultation and support for behavioral health systems development. Dr. Cline has been instrumental in designing and implementing system change toolkit materials for development of the Comprehensive Continuous Integrated Systems of Care (CCISC) model. Dr. Cline has also collaborated on CCISC implementation projects in Vermont; Michigan; California; Virginia; Washington, D.C.; Maryland, Florida and Canada. Previously, Dr. Cline was employed by the New Mexico Department of Health in several capacities, including Director of the Office of Behavioral Health Policy, Research, and Technology Transfer, Behavioral Health Services Division; Project Director, Co-Occurring Disorders Services Enhancement Initiative; Medical Director, Behavioral Health Services Division; and Project Director, New Mexico Pharmacotherapy Initiative for the Treatment of Schizophrenia.

Donna Cotter, MBA, is the National Treatment Plan and Partners for Recovery Coordinator for the Center for Substance Abuse Treatment (CSAT) within the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). Ms. Cotter oversaw the development and dissemination of CSAT's national strategic initiative, Changing the Conversation: The National Treatment Plan Initiative to Improve Substance Abuse Treatment, an unprecedented effort to map a blueprint for the future provision of substance abuse services nationwide. Together with the White House, national leaders, health care consumers, providers and others, she managed the dynamic processes which intersected to create the National Treatment Plan (NTP). Ms. Cotter currently is responsible for coordinating development of the SAMHSA Partners for Recovery Initiative, harmonizing the guidelines and recommendations called for within the NTP with the SAMHSA Programs and Principles Matrix. The goal is to promote treatment activities that build resilience and facilitate recovery nationwide.

Charles G. Curie, M.A., ACSW was nominated by President George W. Bush and confirmed by the U.S. Senate in October 2001 as Administrator of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). As SAMHSA Administrator, Curie reports to Health and Human Services Secretary Tommy G. Thompson and leads the $3.2 billion agency responsible for improving the accountability, capacity and effectiveness of the Nation's substance abuse prevention, addictions treatment and mental health services. Prior to his confirmation as SAMHSA Administrator, Curie was appointed by then Governor Tom Ridge as Deputy Secretary for Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services for the Department of Public Welfare in Pennsylvania. Before his service in the Ridge Administration, Curie was the Director of Risk Management Services for Henry S. Lehr Inc. in Bethlehem, PA; President/CEO of the Helen H. Stevens Community Mental Health Center in Carlisle, PA; and Executive Director/CEO of the Sandusky Valley Center in Tiffin, Ohio. He holds a Masters Degree from the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration and is also certified by the Academy of Certified Social Workers.

Michael Couty, M.S., has worked in the public sector for 28 years with both youth and adult populations. He is currently the Director of the Missouri Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse, Department of Mental Health, and has held that position since July, 1993. As Division Director, Mr. Couty oversees alcohol and drug abuse prevention, education and treatment initiatives throughout Missouri. He has been instrumental in designing and implementing treatment initiatives, including the Comprehensive Substance Abuse Treatment and Rehabilitation (CSTAR) program, which has received national recognition for its unique approach to treatment for women and children.

Beverly Watts Davis is the Director of the SAMHSA Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP). CSAP works in partnership with federal agencies, state and local government, and public and private sector organizations to prevent the onset of illegal drug use, alcohol abuse and tobacco use by building resilience among young people and promoting protective factors in communities nationwide. Prior to her appointment at SAMHSA/CSAP, Ms. Davis was the Executive Director of San Antonio Fighting Back and Senior Vice President of the San Antonio United Way.

Ann Herron, M.S., CRC, CASAC has worked in the addiction treatment field for over 23 years, joining SAMHSA as the Director of the Division of State and Community Assistance in March of 2003. Prior to that, she worked for the New York State Office of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Services as the Director of Treatment, responsible for the development and improvement of over 1,300 treatment programs throughout the state. In addition, Ms. Herron was directly responsible for the management of 13 state-operated inpatient addiction treatment programs serving in excess of 9,000 persons per year. Before joining the state, she ran outpatient and residential programs in the community. Ms. Herron is trained as an addiction counselor, vocational rehabilitation counselor, family therapist and adolescent therapist.

Rokelle Lerner, M.A., is a psychotherapist, international consultant, and lecturer on dysfunctional family systems. She has degrees in education, counseling, and psychology. Her pioneering efforts helped create one of the nation's foremost organizations to serve young children of alcoholics, "Children Are People, Inc.," now a division of Health Communications, Inc. She has led the way in the development of services for children and adults from chemically dependent families and has engendered innovative programs in schools, mental health centers, hospitals and treatment centers around the world. Based in Minneapolis, MN, Lerner is the author of Affirmations for the Inner Child, Daily Affirmations, Living in the Comfort Zone, and Craving Love.

Kenneth Minkoff, M.D., is a board-certified psychiatrist with a certificate of additional qualifications in addiction psychiatry; a dedicated community psychiatrist with extensive experience in public and private inpatient and outpatient settings; and an experienced psychiatric administrator who continues active clinical practice with seriously mentally ill and dually diagnosed patients. Dr. Minkoff currently is a clinical assistant professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School. He is recognized as one of the nation's leading experts on the integrated treatment of individuals with co-occurring psychiatric and substance disorders or "dual diagnosis." He also is considered an expert on the development of integrated systems of care for such individuals, using a national consensus best practice model known as the "Comprehensive Continuous Integrated System of Care." He has developed an integrated conceptual framework for treatment of co-occurring disorders based on application of a disease and recovery model - with parallel phases of treatment and recovery - for each disorder. In 1991, Dr. Minkoff co-edited, with Robert Drake, M.D., Dual Diagnosis of Serious Mental Illness and Substance Disorder (Jossey-Bass).

Jerry Moe, M.A., MAC, CET II, is the National Director for Children's Programs at the Betty Ford Center in Rancho Mirage, CA, and Dallas/Ft. Worth, TX. As an Advisory Board Member of the National Association for Children of Alcoholics (NACoA), he is internationally known as an author, lecturer and trainer on issues for young children from addicted families. Mr. Moe has received numerous awards for the outstanding work he has done and the difference the work has made in the lives of children and their families. His books include: Kids' Power: Healing Games for Children of Alcoholics; Conducting Support Groups for Elementary Children; Discovery...Finding the Buried Treasure; Kids' Power, Too: Words to Grow By; and The Children's Place...At the Heart of Recovery.

Cardwell C. Nuckols, Ph.D., is an internationally recognized expert in behavioral medicine and addictions treatment, Dr. Nuckols has been a clinical and developmental consultant for more than 25 years. His educational background includes advanced work in medical research, pharmacology and psychology. His practical background comes from working with people in various business and clinical settings. His first book, Cocaine: Dependency to Recovery, is a trade best seller, as are, his booklets Quitting Heroin and Quitting Marijuana. His recent works include the book, Healing an Angry Heart, and a video, Chalk Talk on Drugs with Father Martin.

José Rivera, J.D., is a nationally renowned speaker in the area of behavioral health. Trained as a lawyer at New York University Law School, he has served as a faculty member at numerous universities including the Sociology Department at St. Francis College (NY), the Psychology Department of CUNY (NY), the Business Department of Kingsborough College (NY), and Rutgers University Law School. He has served as project director for the Women, Youth & Families Task Force and project director for the Workforce Investment in Recovery Project, both funded by the SAMHSA. He is Project Director for the Cultural Competence Seminar Project and Project Director of the Minority Faculty Development Project, both funded by the Health Resources Services Administration. Dr. Rivera is considered one of the country's experts on empowering people in recovery both in the mental health and substance abuse arenas.
