Dear Provider,

It has come to our attention that not all providers have a complete list of presenting problems. Attached is the current list. Also, you can find this document and current CDC forms and manual by following this link:

<https://ww4.odmhsas.org/cdc/>.

The presenting problem field is comprised of broad categories of problems and is a general indication of why the individual is seeking treatment. It is not necessarily a diagnosis but a generalization of why the individual is seeking treatment.

For FY14 (July 1, 2013), we have been asked to review/re-organize/update the list of presenting problems. When the list was originally created, special attention was not paid to issues surrounding children. If you would like to make suggestions or recommendations, please send those to Kate Graham at kgraham@odmhsas.org.

Thank you, _____
